

Centenary
COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

Frost School of Business

2911 Centenary Boulevard | Shreveport, LA 71104

318.869.5141 | 800.234.5555 | Fax 318.869.5139

www.centenary.edu

February 11, 2010

To Whom it May Concern:

I would like to highly recommend Michael Fosberg and his one-man play, "Incognito." I heard about Fosberg from a colleague who raved about the one-man play. I quickly researched Fosberg and invited him to be a week-long guest for Centenary College's Dream Week, our celebration of the life and legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr. I am so glad that I did.

Fosberg has an engaging personality that students enjoy. Fosberg spoke with philosophy, business, and theater classes during his visit. He made connections with students from a variety of backgrounds and majors. He is easy to talk with and can stimulate discussion on so many topics—from racism and prejudice to truth and ethics. He has an infectious smile and a lot of energy. This makes him a great speaker for college-level classes and workshops. The discussions he began in my classes and on our campus during the week are still being contemplated a month later, and I suspect the conversations will continue for quite a while. His own life and experiences brought a realization to our students about how we make judgments and what constitutes prejudice.

In addition, Fosberg's play, "Incognito" was both funny and thought-provoking. He is an amazing actor with an ability to play a variety of characters with a smooth and clear transition between them. It was like watching a full cast of characters on stage.

I would highly recommend Michael Fosberg to anyone interested in thinking about the complex issues involved with racial identity development, prejudice and truth, as well as for students interested in learning more about acting and playwriting. We hope to invite Fosberg to visit our campus again in the near future.

Sincerely,

Kelly P. Weeks
Associate Professor of Business
Chair, Centenary Diversity Committee
Centenary College of Louisiana
2911 Centenary Boulevard
Shreveport, Louisiana 71134
kweeks@centenary.edu