To Whom It May Concern:

Each and every year our organization holds diversity and inclusion training sessions for staff. This year we are trying something new by holding quarterly training sessions for the management team. While reviewing incognitotheplay.com it became obvious that Michael Fosberg had a unique way of facilitating a workshop regarding a sensitive subject.

Michael tells his journey with such passion and emotion that it had the audience engaged from start to finish. What an amazing experience to witness his life through his theatrical presentation. The team of 75 management employees were awestruck after watching Michael perform.

This is a truly touching way to educate on a topic such as diversity/inclusion. This experience will never be forgotten by those in attendance. Work groups are having more conversations regarding diversity; they are watching the video together and sharing life experiences, as a result of Michael's work with us.

This was one of the best diversity sessions ever held at Veridian and we highly recommend the work session. Michael has the expectations of our management team at an all-time high in regards to diversity and inclusion sessions~ I have my work cut out for me to top his session!

Sincerely,

Renee Christoffer
